

A construction site with a worker in the foreground. The worker is wearing a white hard hat, safety glasses, a blue long-sleeved shirt, and an orange and yellow high-visibility vest. He is kneeling on a wooden platform, looking at a large set of blueprints spread out on the surface. He is pointing at a specific area on the blueprint with his right index finger. In the background, there is a large construction site with many vertical rebar rods protruding from the ground. A yellow tower crane is visible in the distance. Other workers in safety gear are visible on different levels of the construction site. The sky is hazy.
